RE: Renegade Detergent Concentrate

Dear Ms. Wilcox:

The MSDS and the analytical data for your product has been reviewed. According to the data, if properly used, the wastewater discharge from this product should be within our industrial wastewater discharge limits. However, each industrial user is responsible for notifying this department of any process changes and may be asked for analytical data specific to their operation. Keep in mind that we do have limits for oil and grease as indicated in the limits that you have been provided, as this may apply to parts washing discharges. Your clients may need oil separators or grease traps, depending upon the operation.

You may provide my contact information to your clients in our service area that are interested in utilizing your product and we can review the data on a case by case basis if necessary. If you have any further questions, please feel free to call or e-mail.

Sincerely,
